DEATHS INCREASING.

Sixteen Deaths in New Orleans and Other Louisiana Towns Sunday.

New Orleans, Aug. 28.—Yesterday's record shows the smallest number of new cases since Aug. 6, and the largest number of deaths on any day since the fever made its appearance. The unusual number of deaths is attributed to a measure to the change in the weather, last night being cool and pleasant, in great contrast to the weather of the preceding week. Three well-known merchants are among the new cases. Only two names that can be traced to Italian origin are among the 31. Of the deaths eight are Italians. Two died in the Charity Hospital and two in the Emergency. All but two of the deaths were down town. The principle news from outside the city was the announcement from Natchez of the discovery of six cases there and the attempt to blame New Orleans for them. This is regarded as rather strange, in view of the fact that all of the tight quarantines against New Orleans, Natchez has maintained the tightest, not even allowing its own people to enter if they had been near New Orleans. Report to 6 p. m. Sunday:

New cases.....	31
Total to date.....	1,743
Deaths.....	13
Total.....	255
New foci.....	12
Total foci.....	199
Remaining under treatment.....	199
Other points in Louisiana report 21 new cases and 3 deaths.

HENRY ROPER

One of the Jurors in the Fletcher Case.

Russellville, Ky., Aug. 26.—J. Pope Fletcher, charged with assaulting Mary Gladder, sat beside his attorneys, eyeing keenly the twelve men sworn to try the charge, shortly before noon to day, after a delay of three days, during which time more than three hundred citizens of Logan and Todd counties had been examined.

The jury, with the exception of J. L. Baugh, is composed of Todd county citizens. The jury is as follows: J. L. Baugh, P. S. Latham, J. E. McAfee, W. M. Wisdom, H. R. Roper, W. S. Wilcox, W. M. Braden, N. E. Christian, Gaither McGee, James T. Penick, George Mimms and W. L. Wright. Juror Roper is editor of the Todd County Times. Penick is a lumber man and the others are farmers.

John Sacra, one of the four men implicated in the crime, has already been given a death sentence and the case against Fletcher is said to be just as strong.

SIX PAIRS OF TWINS

Help Make Up Family Circle of Allentown, Pa., Couple.

Allentown, Pa., Aug. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Depp, of Hickory Run, with the appearance of twins yesterday, are the parents of 23 children. The parents are only 40 years old, and claim to have the largest family in America, age considered. They were married 18 years ago. Six pairs of twins are now numbered in the family circle. Depp is employed as a section foreman of a railroad.

Mr. Harry Hopper, of Pulaski, Tenn., spent Sunday and Monday in the city.

NO MEETING YESTERDAY.

Peace Conference Making
Slow Progress Towards Agreement.

NOT WITHOUT HOPE.

The Mere Fact That Negotiations Are Still On Supports Wellman's Theory.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 28.—The session of the peace conference which was to have been held today at Portsmouth has been postponed until Tuesday at 4 o'clock p. m. The postponement was made at the request of Mr. Takahira, who explained in a conference with M. Witte that the Japanese envoys had received no word from Tokio. Mr. Takahira, when asked last night whether he regarded the situation as hopeless, responded: "No; not hopeless, but almost hopeless." It is probable the conference will break up Tuesday if Japan has no new proposition to offer. A cablegram from Tokio says the Japanese Cabinet and the elder statesmen are in special session to discuss the latest phase of the peace conference at Portsmouth.

The Russians generally seem not displeased with the situation. They believe Japan has been diplomatically maneuvered into a corner from which, if she now persists in her attempt to exact tribute with the alternative of a continuance of the war, she cannot extricate herself before the public opinion of the world. Japan here and in Europe, they say, appealed for sympathy on the ground that Russia had compelled her to take up arms to protect her life. The fortune of war had gone in her favor, and Russia, recognizing that she had been beaten, and preferring peace to the continuation of the war, had agreed to cede upon every point involved in the quarrel. She was willing to allow Japan full swing in Korea, she was willing to get out of Manchuria, bag and baggage, and commit herself to the recognition of China's integrity and the policy of "the open door." But Japan insisted upon tribute, and because Russia refused, prolongs the carnage. In that act they contend Japan would change the purpose and character of the war which would cease to be no longer one of principle, but degenerate into a war for the exaction of money.

There is no doubt that the Japanese are worried over this aspect of the situation, and they do not propose to be placed in this position if it can be helped.

WALKED OFF STEAMER.

Aubrey Stalls, Was Drowned Near Dover.

Clarksville, Tenn., Aug. 25.—Mr. Aubrey Stalls, a white passenger on the steamer Dunbar, which plies between Paducah, Ky., and Nashville, was drowned Tuesday night near Dover. Stalls was about 40 years old and was registered from Center Furnace, Ky., where he removed some time ago from Dover. He was last seen alive Tuesday night on the steamer on his way to visit at Dover. He was said to be under the influence of liquor and while in this condition is thought to have walked off of the boat into the river. He was not missed until Wednesday morning and his body was not recovered until Wednesday afternoon, when it was found at Canton, Ky.

IN CITY COURT.

Judge Knight Was Kept Busy Yesterday.

Monday was a busy day in police court. Fine negroes, Geo. Buckner, Will Thomas, Clinton Boales, Josh O'Brien and Jerry Tyler, were arranged before Judge Knight on a charge of crap shooting. After hearing the court assessed a fine against each of them which they were unable to pay and they were put to work under Superintendent Outlaw cleaning the streets.

Henry Campbell, col., was tried for jumping on a moving train and found guilty. He paid his fine.

Will Lennox, col., of Evansville, was arrested for raising a row and carrying a concealed weapon on an excursion train. He was found guilty and is doing service on the streets for the city.

Two white men were arraigned for drunkenness and fined a small which they failed to pay and are now working it out on the streets.

DON'T REALIZE CHARGE.

Luster Trying to Play Crazy to Escape the Gallows.

Guthrie, Ky., Aug. 26.—Percy J. Luster, the wife murderer, appeared before Judge Duffy Thursday, and when asked if he knew what he was there for, he replied in the negative.

When the Judge told him he was there to answer the charge of willful murder, his face assumed a horrified expression, he clutched the round of his chair, trembled violently, and cried out: "What! Murder? Me?" Judge Duffy appointed S. Walton Forgry to defend Luster. His examining trial will be held Saturday, September 2.

SERIOUS FALL.

Mr. Oscar Cushman Fell
From Barn Saturday.

Last Saturday while in the upper part of his barn, Mr. J. O. Cushman fell to the ground and sustained serious injury. He was picked up and carried into the house in an unconscious condition. Medical aid was called at once and it was feared that he had received internal injury that might prove fatal. He was soon restored to consciousness and the proper remedies administered. He is getting along all right now and will be out in a few days.

TOBACCO ADVANCING.

Situation as Reported by a Clarksville Paper.

The Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle says tobacco is advancing; all the Western markets are reported higher now than at any time this year and there is still little or no tobacco on any of the markets. Paducah, Mayfield and Hopkinsville all report the lightest stocks on their markets, ever known at this season. The stocks on the Board of Trade market of Clarksville are also reported very light and none suited to the demand of the orders in hand. Louisville is said to have less than 500 hogsheads of dark tobacco (Green River and Owensboro types) in stock. The Farmers Association seems to hold all of the best types of desirable tobacco and they are pleased over the prospect of a decided advance that will pay them for holding so long under the strained situation.

The French government is coming directly to the Association for her supply. The French agent has already bought 3,500 hogshead from the Association and wants more.

HAYNES-KENNER.

Young Couple Leave With Matrimonial Intentions.

Mr. Lionel Haynes, of Dickson, Tenn., and Miss Brenda Kenner, of this city, left here at 5:18 Sunday afternoon for Tennessee with matrimonial intentions. It is thought the young couple went to Nashville and had the ceremony performed and then went to the groom's home in Dickson, where they will reside.

Mr. Haynes and Miss Kenner had been sweethearts for some time, but no one knew of their intentions until they boarded the train Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Haynes is said to be a young man of fine business qualifications and good habits. His bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. Kenner, of this city, and is a very pretty and attractive young lady and her many friends here wish for her a full realization of the fondest dreams of married life.

STICKY FEET OF FLIES.

How the Tiny Pedals of the Pestiferous Insect Adhere to Smooth Surfaces.

Of the common bluebottle fly John J. Ward writes: "Each foot is provided with a pair of stout claws. These are of service to the insect when walking over rough surfaces, penetrating tiny crevices quite invisible to human sight. When it climbs a perpendicular wall or walks upside down upon a ceiling the apparently smooth surface has sufficient roughness for these tiny claws to get a grip upon it. However, it may occasionally occur that the bluebottle has other situations to meet, where it cannot use these hooked claws. It may alight upon the smooth surface of the butcher's flies and dishes or upon the transparent dome of the case of the shop. The fly can climb such surfaces upon which its claws cannot get a hold because of the two pads between the claws. These pads are brought into play on glass and similar materials, the claws being then thrown back, one to each side, beneath the foot and out of the way, just as, when the claws are in use, the pads are lifted up between them, also to be out of the way."

These pads, or flaps, for a long time were thought to hold like suckers, by forming a vacuum. But when some flies were put into a vessel from which the air was withdrawn they still adhered. Mr. Ward continues: "Since then it has been observed that the under side of these foot pads is studded with tiny hairs which extend a sticky fluid and it has, therefore, been surmised that this secretion both expels the air from beneath the pads and at the same time gums the pads to the smooth surface. When we find a dead fly still adhering to a window pane or frame it secreted this sticky fluid while its strength was failing and later became too feeble to remove its feet again."

"When the active fly would lift its foot it loosens the pad by rolling it off the surface from the opposite sides, just as we might readily open an envelope by pulling up the flap by the point before it has properly stuck, although it would be extremely difficult to open by pulling directly from above."

COTTONSEED "OLIVE OIL"

Difference Between It and the Genuine Article Difficult to Detect.

If it weren't for the influence of a name and a tradition Americans would not send money abroad for the cottonseed oil manufactured at home. But to please the American imagination, says the Jacksonville Times-Union, it must go abroad to be labeled "olive oil" before they will use it in their salads or for the other uses the alleged olive oil is put to. If it were brought at home, for one thing, it would be too cheap. It is the price of "olive oil" that makes it dear to the epicure. No tariff laws can shield us from the impositions put upon us, for experts cannot detect the difference between cottonseed oil and olive oil, it is asserted. One is just as nutritious and tastes as well as the other when refined. Both are bland vegetable oils, free from any harmful effect upon the system. Cottonseed is well boiled before the oil is expressed from it. The oil is immeasurably superior to hog's fat for culinary purposes. It cannot but be wholesome, while lard can only be wholesome if the hog was free from disease when killed and no one can know that when purchasing lard. When cottonseed oil is transformed into butter it makes a product superior to most substitutes for cow's butter.

Nevertheless great quantities of the southern products continue to be sent abroad, and Americans will continue to pay the expense of transportation both ways and a good-sized profit to the foreign handler in order that he may be fooled. He likes to be fooled. Even when he knows that it is impossible to manufacture from pure olives all the olive oil sold he will not take the hint. He doesn't want to. He is above the weakness of a patriotic desire to patronize home products. He wants the brand; never mind what the stuff is.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Trouble May Be Sapping Your Life Away.

Hopkinsville people have learned this fact. When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Hopkinsville testimony to prove it. James A. Tyeiman, brick mason, 1230 South Virginia street, says: "Disorders of the kidneys brought on in my case so abruptly continued a succession of pains and aches throughout my back that I could not rest comfortably at night and arose in the morning lame and sore. I was tired and worn out from morning to night. The kidney secretions were irregular, high-colored and scaling and deposited a heavy sediment it allowed to stand. I had no energy left and felt generally run down. I was feeling worse than usual when my attention was attracted by an advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at L. A. Johnson's drug store and began using them. In a few days I noticed that the secretions had assumed a natural appearance and the pain and aching had been greatly relieved and by the time I had completed the box there was a wonderful change in my condition. I am glad to state that I am practically cured and Doan's Kidney Pills will be my friend for life."

Restores the bile more fluid and thus helps the blood to flow; it affords prompt relief from biliousness, indigestion, sick and nervous headaches, and over-indulgence in food and drink. G. L. Caldwell, Agt. M. & T. R. Ry., Clarksville, Tenn., writes, April 18, 1905: "I was sick for over two years with enlargement of the liver and spleen. The doctors did me no good, and I had given up all hope of being cured, when a druggist advised me to use Herbina. It has made me sound and well." 50c. Sold by Cook & Higgins.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given: That upon the 9th day of August, 1905, there was filed in the clerk's office of the Christian circuit court petition, in the name and on behalf of the city of Hopkinsville, the style of which action is as follows: City of Hopkinsville Petition Ex parte. The object of which proceeding is to annex certain territory lying south of the corporate limits of the city of Hopkinsville, between the Palmyra road and the Clarksville pike, consisting of about 36 acres, and more fully described in said petition, to and include same within the corporate limits of the city of Hopkinsville. And if no defense is made to said petition at the term of the Christian circuit court, commencing on the 25th day of September, 1905, or the court grant further time for making defense the court will render a judgment annexing said proposed territory.

Given under my hand as clerk of the Christian circuit court. This August 9th, 1905.

"HER ELOPEMENT."

BY BARRY FAIR.

He was a middle-aged man, intensely respectable in appearance and inclined to portliness. On his return from his office in the evening he found a letter waiting for him on the table in the hall. It was addressed to him in his wife's handwriting. He took it into the library with him, selected a comfortable chair in a good light and adjusted his reading spectacles. He followed the letter.

"My dear George, I have eloped. If I say it in this plain and direct way without periphrasis and without breaking it to you gently it is because you must for some time past have been expecting something of the kind. I credit your intelligence with that. "Well, your secret is out in ten years, and, as you pointed out the other day, we have never exchanged one angry word with each other. Somehow that seems to me to speak for itself. The dead level of decency has never been disturbed. You, as a correct and orthodox solicitor, regard this with intense satisfaction. I confess that a delightful and agreeable surprise—well, pretty deadly. It sounds perhaps an exaggeration, but I almost wish that you had on some occasion completely taken me up with me and my wife. I violently. Perhaps it would have been better still, if you had permitted me to lose my temper with you. You never will. You are too good and too kind beyond all praise. At the same time they have proved fatal to the woman who is your wife. I have been through ten years of it. The end is up!"

"There is really a good deal of broken contract about it on both sides. Ten years ago I was pretty and you were romantic. I admit—that this kind of thing would continue. It has continued. At the present moment I am quite well preserved and you are a solicitor and we never exchange an angry word. Nor do we ever exchange a word of affection which could be called hysterical or glottic. "The fact that for the better part of ten years I have been acting a part magnificently. I have acted the part of housekeeper so splendidly that at times I have deceived myself and believed that I really did take an interest in the tradesman's books. Perhaps the self-deceit went further than that. I deceived myself into believing that I really enjoyed the portentous and extremely dull dinners that we give every month. I deceived myself into believing that our well regulated and rather monotonous affection was the placid happiness of married lovers. But all the time romance has been alive in me and the flame on the altar is not yet burned out. (My poor George, what on earth will you make of that sentence? Meta-phor always did 'muddle you.) The flame will not burn forever. One gets old and older. The cold night is coming. I have an hour still to enjoy. "All this came to me after you had left for the office this morning. You told me to wait here, how very nearly I dashed your silk hat from your hand, kicked it across the hall and went into hysterics. That hat had somehow become a symbol of my unity, well-groomed, respectable life. I went into the kitchen and gave the orders (I was able to get the red mullet after all), and when I came back I found that I had told the servants a plausible story and you may be able to save a scandal if you back it. Really, there is nothing to be surprised about. It is not my fault. It is a romantic woman and another man, what else can be expected?"

"And now you ask who the man is. You are five days back over your visiting list. Which of the men that have eaten your bread and sour salt at your portentous dinners can have done this to you? You must guess. You must try your mind eye, George. There is no man in the question. I have lately come to the conclusion that men are a good deal overrated. I am eloping all by myself and I think it will be perfectly beautiful. I need not worry about money. My own $200 a year will not give me the carriages with fast horses and the big house and the portentous dinners, but I have grown to value these things very little. Two hundred pounds will do very well for me. By the time that you get this letter I shall be in Paris. I shall not write another letter, but you shall know my address from time to time. This will facilitate the work of the private detectives if you are idiot enough to waste any money on them."

"And, seeing that I go all alone, perhaps it should not be called an elopement, but simply a holiday. And if it is just a holiday it may one day be over and then I may return to work as usual, I promise nothing."

The letter was signed with her Christian name. The man who had read it meditated for some time and then rang the bell.

"Look here," he said to the man who answered it, "there is some red mullet for dinner to-night. I wish you'd just take care from the cook that she means to do it. There should be wine in the sauce—some port. Tell her so. She probably knows, but I want to make sure. And get me a stall for the theater for to-night. That's all, thanks."

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

The more Magazines there are, the more

Indispensable is The Review of Reviews

"Indispensable." "The one magazine I feel I must take." "The world under a field-glass." "An education in public affairs and current literature."—these are some of the phrases one hears from noted people who read the Review of Reviews. The more magazines there are, the more necessary is the Review of Reviews, because it brings together the best that is in all the most important monthlies of the world. Such is the flood of periodical literature that nowadays people say that the Review of Reviews is the only way to keep up with it to read the Review of Reviews. Entirely over and above this reviewing section, it has more original matter and illustrations than most magazines, and the most timely and important articles printed in any monthly.

Probably the most useful section of all is Dr. Albert Shaw's illustrated "Progress of the World," where public events and issues are authoritatively and lucidly explained in every issue. Many a subscriber writes: "This department alone is worth more than the price of the magazine." The unique cartoon department depicting current history in caricature, is another favorite. The Review of Reviews covers five continents, and yet is American, first and foremost.

Men in public life, the members of Congress, professional men, and the great captains of industry who must keep "up with the times," intelligent men and women all over America, have decided that it is "indispensable."

EVENING SWIMMING

LATE AFTERNOON HOURS SPENT PLEASURABLY.

Of the Cells of Birds Climax Reached in Whistle of Hermit Thrush - Distant Cry of Night-Hawk.

I had occasion, in the early days of June, to tramp for some miles along an abandoned road which skirted a mountain side, following a ridge of the foothills, and overlooking a wide valley of farm land and pasture, while far beyond there was the dim green line of the Vermont mountains in the west. It was in the late afternoon, the finest hours of all the day, for a western sun made a golden glow over the near fields, and the live things in the wood were lifting their voices in an evening symphony. As I walked along, it pleased me to pick out the various sounds which went to make up this music.

Near me were all sorts of noises that told of lurking animals. A quick, startled rustle in the dry grass told of a frightened meadow mouse; a red squirrel chattered sharply from a thicket, scolding like a little shrew; and down in the pasture, out of my sight, I heard the whistle of a woodchuck. As if in contrast to this came a noise that told me of the presence of the noblest American animal of all. I was just at the edge of the great game preserve, Corbin park, and my ear caught the hoarse grunt of the buffalo, and I knew that somewhere near at hand a herd of the great shaggy, commanding beasts were feeding. But it was the birds, of course, whose voices were most noticeable in the music. At that hour of the evening, every feathered creature seems to take it as part of the day's duty and pleasure to sing; nor was it difficult to identify the singers. Above my head, an occasional hunting swallow twittered, as he flew, and near an old house a pair of chimney swifts sprang their silver rattle as they circled and curved above their home site. From the bushes and little poplars that lined the road, blackthroated green warblers sang see-zee-zee; a red-eyed vireo wandered industriously among the branches, and expounded a very gentle law in a spirited voice; and a white-breasted nuthatch talked to himself, ank, ank, ank.

A song sparrow lifted his mellow evensong from the top of a brush pile. A phoebe called plaintively, and immediately after I heard the sharp snap of his bill, as he tried for a flying insect. A brown thrasher bubbled and quipped and cheered in the distance, a very sent up his spiral song, a succession of notes in a constantly ascending scale, and an ovenbird shrilled ecstatically, as though his little yellow breast were so full of joy that he could not do otherwise than try to impress it upon the world. After that came the climax of the thrush, the distant whistle of the hermit thrush. It can be picked out from all other bird music, because no other singer hereabouts has such a rare beauty of voice. When you have never before heard in sweetness, in purity, in character, as though the singer were aloof from the everyday world, a rare soul alone with his own fine thoughts, that is the hermit. It is not the variety of his notes; it is their single ecstasy, or their mirthfulness, or for any suggestion of joy; it is merely the wondrous quality of the tone. It is as though you heard a Calve or a Sembrich singing to the flute. What if Shelly had heard the hermit! There would be another poem to match "The Skylark."

Quickly the tune in my ears changed; I was listening to another very clear note at hand, to the humble of early bees in the apple blossoms, and again to the murmuring of a few small gnats that played in the air in front of my eyes. The sun sank lower, the mountains in the west became a clear blue line, while those to the east were almost blue black. From somewhere out of the air above alone with his own fine thoughts, that is the hermit. It is not the variety of his notes; it is their single ecstasy, or their mirthfulness, or for any suggestion of joy; it is merely the wondrous quality of the tone. It is as though you heard a Calve or a Sembrich singing to the flute. What if Shelly had heard the hermit! There would be another poem to match "The Skylark."

The voices, the sounds, were now at full height, and as it ended to the evening music there floated up from the valley beneath the low of homeing cattle, the clink, clink, clink of the bell on a cow's shambled stables, and the mellowing and beat; pleasant sounds suggestive of a man and man's life, of quiet old farm houses, and smoking chimneys, and tobacco returning from the day's work in the fields.

A COUNTRY ESTATE

ROCKEFELLER SECURING FOR SON A WONDERFUL PLACE.

Plans in Progress for the Heir of the Rockefeller Millions - Goody Portion of Westchester County Bought.

Grumblers say Rockefeller is trying to buy up all of Westchester county, N. Y., for the great landed estate that is being got ready for John Jr., an estate that it is planned shall equal any of those famed ones over in old England, that mother land that teaches our rich folk how to spend their wealth.

The property has been gathering slowly and subtly, one may say, for no fancy prices have been paid for the acres, they have been bought now here, now there, at this time and at that. The newspapers have repeated with joy the tale of the saloon keeper that has refused to be ousted at John's bidding, but late paragraphs tell of the inevitable defeat. With no one around to bid the saloon owner, what good is there in keeping the bit of land away from the covetous old king? One must live, and so the saloon man, too, gives in, and John and young John are lord of all they survey.

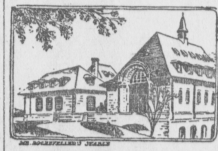

Perhaps the picture will be more vivid put as the New York Times graphically has it—John D. Rockefeller's baronial estate is so big that he can ride his automobile 75 miles over his own property without using the same road twice.

That is pretty bad, when some are city-smeared the year round in tiny rooms, never can rest in shade of tree, garden roadside flower, listen to a brook's murmur. But hold, this is no satire against the too-much of the rich, the too-little of the poor. This is merely a glimpse at a great big estate of an American landed proprietor.

It is situated among the Pocantico hills, the 6,000 acres comprised in the property, and there is many a beautiful view of the Hudson, many a noble group of birch and maples, many a woodland close for squirrels to gambol in, many a field of flowers and grass. It may not be generally known that John Rockefeller is a civil engineer, but the men that are at work improving his property—an army of something like 1,600—realize that the master knows what he is about when he directs about grade and drainage, about what to leave untouched, what to change in the broad extent of lands, the many cottages that came in with the purchase.

As yet the great house is not built. The stables are nearly completed, said to be the finest private ones in this country. The house awaits improvements in the son's health, so rumor says, and the money will be begun soon as he is settled in some place that will act as tonic for his waning vitality. Health improving, anxiety over when the father can be returned to the baronial estate, erection of a suitable mansion.

When the estate was in the buying, two fine examples of Colonial dwellings were purchased. One, which was burned a couple of years ago, stood on a site commanding a wonderful view of the Hudson; and here the family dwelt when on the Pocantico property. Now they are farther down the valley, but when a view is wanted they can climb to the top.

THE ROCKEFELLER STABLES.

observatory built on the site of the burned-down house. Spring and fall find Mr. Rockefeller at Pocantico, his passion for golf one of the attractions drawing him thither. His splendid 18-hole golf course is his special pride, as golf is his favorite sport. The New York Times article refers to the house he now dwells in at Pocantico as looking, with its glass sun-parlors surrounding both lower and upper story, like a great incubator, and pronounces it a shocking exhibition of architecture. The new house, doubtless, will be very grand.

Pocantico will make for John Jr. a magnificent suburban home. So far the property must have cost "father" the neat sum of $5,000,000. The indulgent parent began buying up property back in 1891 for the estate, started in with 500 acres. Sometimes whole villages were bought, sometimes tiny plots of ground. There are historic bits which are to be preserved; for instance, a cottage that he called the Rockery, where Maj. Andre slept the night before his capture at Tarrytown; then there is Sleepy Hollow, of value apart from its worth in dollars and cents.

Quite a pleasant, interesting occupation this, the establishment of an American estate. Worth while to take time for from getting a million-making. HENRY WHITEHOUSE.

People having relatives and friends buried in the old cemetery in the Southwestern part of the city will be glad to know that Engineer McCloud and Superintendent Outlaw have had that sacred enclosure cleared of briars, weeds and undergrowth, and it now looks as if the resting place of some of our earlier citizens had not entirely faded from the memory of the present generations. This may be set down as one of the good results following the recent historical sketches that appeared in this paper.

One More Service.

Dr. J. L. Wyatt preached at the Christian church last Sunday night. It was understood that that would be the last union service of the summer, but it is generally understood that another service will be held next Sunday night. Dr. E. L. Southgate, the president of the Ministers' Association, has not yet made an announcement as to who will conduct the service and the place of being held, but due announcement will be made later in the week.

SEPTEMBER STORMS

Will Likely be Followed by Killing Frosts.

On and touching Friday, September 1, rain, wind and thunder, with equinoctial tempests in the South coast are probably, according to Rev. Hicks. The disturbances will likely be prolonged up to the 5th. Clearing, cooler weather will prevail during the 6th and 7th. Storms of wind, rain and thunder will visit most localities from the 9th to the 11th. The 13th to 15th are also reactionary storm days and decided storm conditions may be expected to continue over these dates. One of the most probable earthquake periods of the month will be central on the 13th, extending twenty-four to thirty-six hours before and after day. Following the general and severe storms about this time, look for a marked change to high barometer and much cooler weather, with frost in many localities, especially northward, between the 15th and 19th. The next regular storm period is central on the 21st—the central day of the Earth's autumnal equinox also. Look for rising temperature, threatening storm clouds, with rain, wind and thunder. Another high barometer and change to decidedly cooler will come in from the north-west close behind these storms. The 27th, 28th and 29th are reactionary storm days and many wide-sweeping and violent storms will visit various parts of the country. This period is also one of maximum earthquake probability. Seismic disturbances and volcanic activity will be natural concomitants of all these phenomena. Look for a decided, rushing high barometer to follow, with change to very cool weather and frost all over central and northern sections.

TOBACCO CAMPAIGN

Trust Fighters are Organizing in Kentucky.

Eddyville, Ky., Aug. 25.—A large mass meeting of tobacco planters was held here yesterday. Speeches were made by ex-Congressman William Stone, of Kuttawa, and Hon. W. A. Bradley and John E. Garner, of Robertson county, Tenn. Capt. Stone made one of the strongest and best arguments for the Association heard in many days.

Mr. Garner, who is well known throughout the western district, explained the object and purpose of the association at great length. His speech was well received and many times he was interrupted by applause. The meeting did much to strengthen the association in the western district and a mass-meeting has been called for August 28, when this county will perfect its permanent organization and join the association.

Hon. Denny P. Smith, of Cadiz, Ky., Commonwealth's Attorney for this district, volunteered his services to the campaigners who are here from Tennessee.

The fight here is red hot and the trust is sending buyers out bidding long prices for tobacco in the patch. This is considered a strong card for the farmers, inasmuch as they formerly had to run after the buyers to sell after the crop was cured.

Messrs. Bradley and Garner left for Calloway county, where the fight is now being waged.

CUBA PROSPEROUS.

Good Showing For the Little Republic.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The prosperity of Cuba is such that even the most optimistic are surprised at the results which are shown by the latest statistics. There is no section of the country that has not received a great impetus, commercially or industrially, and the influx of tourists and investors during the past year has been such that there were not sufficient hotel accommodations for them, and new and modern hotels will be built for the coming winter. The greatest proof of the development of Cuba during the administration of President Palma can be found in the study of the last figures of the official report of the Cuban Treasury, showing the results of the conservative, wise and progressive government which has ruled the island during the last three years.

The total receipts for the year were $61,751,056.72, plus $7,069,584.86 balance of the previous year, giving a grand total of $68,820,641.68, and if $44,554,407.43, the year's payments, be deducted, a balance remains of $24,266,234.25, the amount in the Cuban Treasury on July 1st, which, after suffering some deductions for outstanding debts left about $22,000,000 surplus. Part of this will be devoted to public works and part to serve as basis for the money to be applied to settle the balance due to the army.

Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit, through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease for over 35 years. A sure protection, to you, is our name on the wrapper. Look for it on all Dr. King's, or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, Ill., and Windsor, Canada.

RESOLUTIONS.

Memorial by Church Hill Grange of Bro. Frank M. Pierce.

The recurring departure of friends continually reminds us of our own mortality and of the great necessity of being ready when the welcome or unwelcome summons comes.

The death of our beloved brother, Frank M. Pierce, removes from our ranks one of our charter members who has been true to every trust and faithful to every obligation. After a long illness he expired on rest July 23rd, 1905, aged 73 years.

Bro. Pierce was a most exemplary citizen, an earnest Christian and had fulfilled with conscientious fidelity all the obligations of husband, father and friend, and as we trust and believe was well prepared to enter into that rest which remains to the people of God.

Resolved, That we tender to the family and relatives of our deceased brother, our earnest and sincere sympathy, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and published in our county papers and American Grange Bulletin.

Done by order of Church Hill Grange, this Aug. 20th, 1905.

Grave Trouble Foreseen.

It needs but little foresight to tell, that when your stomach and liver are badly affected, grave trouble is ahead unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young of Clay, N. Y., did. She says: "I had neuralgia of the liver and stomach, my heart was weakened, and I could not eat. I was very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters, I found just what I needed, for they quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by C. C. Hardwick, druggist, at 50c a bottle.

SERIES OF MEETINGS

Being Conducted By Rev. Harding, of Bowling Green.

The Rev. James A. Harding, of Bowling Green, began a series of meetings at Little River Christian church Sunday. There will be services both morning and evening throughout the meeting which will continue about two weeks. Three services were conducted Sunday and dinner was served on the grounds.

Sudden Deaths.
There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, rheumatism, dropsy, etc.—all of which are the result of kidney trouble. If kidney trouble is allowed to take its course, it will destroy the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Kidney troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickly, by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and stalling pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing kidney troubles. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

LET'S HAVE ELECTRIC CARS IF WE CAN.

Capitalists Have Been Here
Looking over the Situation.

PEOPLE WANT THEM.

The Council and Citizens Will Lend Every Assistance.

Every one is anxious to see an electric street car system in operation in this city. We need it, and if we get it nothing will be lacking to make this one of the most desirable cities in the state. People who come here from a distance and note the progressive spirit and great improvements going on wonder why we have not put in electric cars. This paper, time and again, has attended to it and the people have given it due consideration, and all unite in saying that we ought to have them, but no way of getting them has been in sight. The many advantages growing out of a street railway system is patent to all—in fact they would be so numerous that one could hardly number them. Think, for one moment, of the travel between the city and the asylum, to say nothing of the revenue that would be diverted to an electric railway company by the patronage of the Asylum. All the provisions, coal and other materials used there would be carried over the electric line. Property owners along the line would be greatly benefited and the increase in the price of building lots would justify the owners in giving aid to those who might secure a franchise for building the line. But there are so many advantages to be secured that it is useless to try to name them.

As is pretty generally known there has been a good deal of talk in the past three days of the prospect of securing this greatly needed enterprise. Capitalists who came here have been quietly investigating matters generally with a view of investing. They only ask that a satisfactory franchise be granted. There is no doubt this will be done, for the citizens will freely endorse anything the city council will do in the premises.

What we want first of all is a street railway system, and if we have an opportunity of securing it let us reason together and take the proper steps and do everything to induce the gentlemen to supply this greatest of all our needs. Would it not be wise to call a meeting of the citizens at the right time and talk the matter over? Who will take the initiative step?

Louisville now claims a population of 238,000.

OLD INDIAN PIPE LORE.

Pretty Sentiment Displayed in the Markings of Some of Early Times.

It need scarcely be told that in the pipes of long ago each feather appended to the stem represented an enemy slain. If one doubted the record of the war eagle feathers the warrior then showed the scalp of the enemy, which were kept as a sort of sacred proof of his word. Such pipes were used only on occasions of peace and war. Speaking roughly, says Outing, the best pipes of eastern tribes were in molded clay, the best of the western tribes in slate pipestone taken from the famous quarry west of the Mississippi. Before the great buffalo and antelope hunts, whole herds of game were driven into a pound or inclosed area of squares, it was customary for the Indians to whiff the incense of the pipe to the spirits of the animals about to be slain, explaining that only the desire for food compelled the Indians to kill and that the hunt was in the will of the Master of Life, or "Master of the Roaring Winds," who would compensate the animals in the next world. The pipes used for this ceremony usually show the figure of an animal. Others show the figures of Indians with locked hands. This typifies a vow of friendship to be terminated only by death. It was usually between men, but sometimes between a man and a woman, in which case the platonic bond not only precluded but forbade the very possibility of marriage. After that who shall say that the stolid Indian has no vein of sentiment in his nature?

One of the most curious pipes I have seen I bought from a Cree on a reservation east of the Crege Sioux. It is in the shape of a war hatchet of a metal which I do not know, though I suspect it is galena mixed with clay, the edge being sharp enough, but the back of the ax being a bowl and the handle a pipe stem. The odd lines in Indian carvings and woven work are not without meaning. Fighting Mistah could read a lesson for us we saw nothing but bizarre markings. There were the circular lines, hollow down, meaning clouds; the cross, meaning the coming of the priest; the tree, a type of peace, with its branches overshadowing the nations; the arrow, signifying water; the arrow, war. The ordinary Indian can read a tribal song or chronicle from obscure drawings on the face of a rock or craggy colored work on a scraped buffalo skin.

CHAUFFEURS OF TITLE.

Two Monarchs of Europe Who Actually Drive Their Own Automobiles.

But two monarchs actually drive motor cars, though royalty has taken most kindly to the automobile.

The king of Italy and the young king of Spain are the only ones who handle their cars themselves, and the Spanish ruler is quite capable of crawling under his car and repairing breakdowns as expertly as a mechanic.

His intention of having and running his own car very nearly brought about a cabinet crisis, as it was feared that he would kill himself and precipitate a revolution; but he handles his car like a veteran and takes more enjoyment in the sport than he has found in any other diversion.

When King Edward was prince of Wales he was the first royal patron of the sport, and he still owns a greater number and variety of cars than any other ruler.

The queen will this year set up her own car, as will Princess Christian and the present prince and princess of Wales are much interested in motoring.

The Kaiser was the first to encourage motor racing; but his greater interest is in the mechanical side of motoring, and in this his brother, Prince Henry, follows him, the latter having a hobby for visiting factories and studying the cars in process of construction.

Oddly enough, President Loubet has not taken to motoring, and each year he drives to open the automobile show in his four-wheeled carriage, though it was in France the motor car gained its early progress and France still leads the world in motorizing.

CONTEST FILED IN FIRST WARD.

H. W. Tibbs Charges That He Was Beaten by Fraud.

VOTES ARE QUESTIONED

Mr. Clark's Attorney's Deny Charges of Fraud and Hint at Disclosures.

Mr. H. W. Tibbs on Saturday served a notice of contest on Mr. J. Miller Clark, who was nominated for councilman in the primary election of August 15, in which he received 53 votes and Mr. Tibbs 52.

The contestant alleges various irregularities and charges the officers of election with frauds.

He alleges, 1st, that the ballot of Dudley Long, a youth under 21 years of age and who is not a resident voter of the ward, was counted for his opponent.

2nd, That three spoiled and mutilated ballots were (illegally) counted.

3rd, That one ballot marked for both candidates was counted for Clark.

4th, That six illegal ballots, cast by P. M. Dollins, Chas. Garrison, Jas. Bradley, L. B. Hicks, Bob Cason and Witherspoon, not resident voters of the ward, were counted for Clark.

5th, That a number of fraudulent ballots were cast for Clark and were counted for Clark.

6th, That irregularities and frauds were practiced.

7th, That for these reasons he asks that all the ballots be returned and opened and recounted, and that only valid ballots of legal voters of the ward be counted.

Should any of the committeemen be disqualified from serving, for any reason, a quorum can transact business.

Sec. 21 of the party Law of 1904 says:

All contests for municipal, county, senatorial, or legislative offices shall be referred to and heard and determined by the committee of the county or legislative district in which said contest may occur. The finding of said committee shall be final.

Under this section the contest will come before the county committee.

The committee will meet soon to determine when and how the contest shall be heard.

One of Mr. Clark's attorneys was seen yesterday and said there would be some lively developments if the contest is prosecuted. He said the candidates first circulated petitions and Mr. Clark obtained 57 names and Mr. Tibbs 21 or 22, and then the primary was called, and then Mr. Clark again received a majority of the votes. The seven votes questioned by Mr. Tibbs did not all vote, but those who did vote were legal and qualified electors. On the other hand several voters not residents of the First Ward in any sense voted for Mr. Tibbs. He further said the answer to Mr. Tibbs' notice of contest would be issued in a day or two and the contest would be prepared to throw a good deal of light upon some matters leading up to the contest.

A good deal of feeling is sure to be engendered and it is unfortunate for the party that there is to be a contest over a position in which the amount of salary involved is less than $40 a year. The election officers whose official acts are attacked were A. T. Davenport, named by Mr. Tibbs; J. W. Heath, named by Mr. Clark, and W. M. Hancock, the clerk, who was agreed upon by both candidates. The decisions of the officers, according to statements of one of them, were all unanimous and they resent the charge of fraud.

The city committee met and canvassed the returns three days after the election and certified to Mr. Clark's nomination.

Mr. Tibbs is represented by Judge Joe McCarroll and Mr. Clark has retained Downer & Russell and Southall & Son.

POSTERITY'S COLD LIGHT.

Means by Which Coming Generations May Dispel the Darkness of the Night.

Our children's children will expect night with a bright effulgence derived through the medium of an exhausted glass tube containing a small body which can be made to phosphoresce when bombarded with electrons. That is the gist of a study of the lamp of the future by Dr. J. A. Fleming, in the Electrical Magazine. But "the author gives rein to his imagination," avers the Electrical Review, which, at the same time, finds the plan worthy of serious consideration as an "idea of the ideal lamp toward which we should strive."

Placed at suitable points about the small body in the exhausted glass tube of Dr. Fleming's hypothesis will be the "electrodes" arranged so as to project the electrically charged matter leaving their surfaces upon the body, and thus bring it into brilliant phosphorescence. The substance which phosphoresces will be selected so as to produce, if possible, only luminous rays. Or if this cannot be done, the luminous rays must greatly preponderate. "In other words," adds the Electrical Review, "we must have a cold light. We must use the electrical energy as to produce light without converting it into heat."

The idea of using phosphorescent bodies is old. The problem, of course, is to obtain a lamp which can be made to phosphoresce at will, and which will give sufficient light for practical use. Dr. Fleming's plan is based upon the following idea: It is thought by some that the luminous energy radiations which we recognize as light are produced only by vibrations of the corpuscles themselves. The longer or so-called heat rays are due to vibrations of the atoms of matter as a whole. If we can cause the corpuscles to vibrate without setting the atom as a whole into motion, we should, according to this idea, be able to produce a cold light. This does not mean that the radiations do not represent energy, but merely that there are none of those lower vibrations which we usually class as heat.

We are, of course, a long way from this idea. At the present time we are, for a lack of better method, forced to produce light through the medium of heat—that is to say, according to the newer idea of the method of producing luminous rays to make the body luminous, we simply, by heating it, get its atoms into such violent motions as to get corpuscles of the atoms themselves into vibration. The useful work done is then only that which sets the corpuscles into motion. The movement of the atom as an atom gives rise to the heat rays, and except in so far as it brings about more rapid vibrations of its corpuscles, is useless, and represents a waste of energy. We are probably as far from this ideal lamp as we are from what might be described as an ideal telephone.

Praying for Good Husbands.
A picturesque ceremony takes place every year in Haute-Vienne. All the girls in the place on the day of St. Etienne file in procession to the St. Julien les Gombes to the cross which is erected near the church to the saint. Each girl hangs her left garter on the cross and prays that she may have a good husband, and then gives way to the next girl. The cross is so smothered in garters of different colors that at a short distance it looks as though it were covered with flowers.

Do You Know Mme. Qui Vive?

Probably you do, for Mme. Qui Vive has a national reputation as an aspiring friend of every woman with a beauty woe. Her "Woman Beautiful" department in the daily and Sunday issues of The Chicago Record-Herald is a personal source of joyous helpfulness to womankind. Her instructions on complexion ills are interlarded here and there with snappy little epigrams as "cheerers."

The weapons she suggests to beauty seekers for the complete annihilation of beauty grievances do not include artificial methods—"factory" frizzers, rouge and other horrors being barred. She gives instructions on correct breathing, what to eat, how to bathe—in brief how to become a healthy, wholesome woman. No wonder she is popularly known to many thousands of women.

WHAT CUTICURA DOES FOR WOMEN

Too much stress cannot be placed on the great value of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills in the antiseptic cleansing of the skin, the removal of scales, and of the blood and circulating fluids, thus affording pure, sweet, and economical local and constitutional treatment for weakening ulcerations, inflammations, itching, irritations, eruptions, displacements, pains, and irregularities peculiar to females. Hence the Cuticura remedies have a wonderful influence in restoring health, strength, and beauty to weary women, who have been prematurely aged and inviolated by these distressing ailments, as well as such symptomatic afflictions as anemia, chlorosis, hysteria, and nervousness.

Women from the very first have fully appreciated the purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy which have made Cuticura the most successful and reliable remedy of the civilized world.

TORTURING HUMOR

Cured by Cuticura.

State College of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) of Kentucky offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, Horticultural, Chemical, Biological, Mathematical, Physical, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, and Mining Engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post graduate studies are also provided, leading to a master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty number nearly fifty professors and instructors.

County appointees receive free tuition, room rent in the dormitories, fuel and light, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses. The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern.

The Legislature appropriated $60,000 for a college home for young women and $30,000 for drill hall and gymnasium for men. Both buildings are completed and in use. Military tactics and science are fully provided for as required by Congress.

Graduates from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remuneration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the College to supply.

Specialists with the necessary number of assistants have charge of each department of natural science. Summer schools are provided for pedagogy, engineering, instruction in science and in arts.

The State College of Kentucky, though bearing hitherto the title of "college," is the only institution in the Commonwealth doing, in any proper sense, university work.

The completion of the College home for young women provides facilities for good board and lodging. It is equipped with all modern conveniences, including bath rooms and room for physical culture. It is heated by steam and lighted by electricity.

An opportunity is thus afforded to young women of obtaining a thorough education in classics, modern language, literature, science, mathematics, logic, metaphysics, history, and political economy.

No other institution in the State offers advantages for education of women at all comparable to those offered by the State College of Kentucky.

was found, but as it had lapsed nearly three years before, his family thought it worthless, but when his mother died in 1901, 6 years later, as the policy was with some of her papers, inquiry was made as to whether it had any value, and it was ascertained that the company, under its nonforfeiture system, had extended the insurance for $2,652 for over 3 years, and that it was in force at the time of Mr. Brown's death. Upon proofs of death being furnished the policy was promptly paid in full.

HOUSE GOWNS AND OTHER GOWNS

ALONG GRACEFUL LINES.

THE busiest of women rest all over a few moments every day that they may keep on by their buying in an energetic and able manner—and also because a bit of rest is so grateful to the energetic woman that works with her might instead of potters. And when a woman rests, has time to think, she wants to do it in a garment that will not distract from the refreshing success of toil. Wherefore, we have lounging robes, tea-jackets, kimono—all that class of bedroom negligee.

And everything should correspond, slippers be of the easiest and lightest, corsets removed, petticoats unhampered, the outer dress luxuriously loose. One may take the social cup with boudoir friends attired in short silk petticoat and tea-sack. This petticoat is short and shows the gay, coquettish slipper plainly, fits nicely about the hips, is very frilly and voluminous at the bottom. Sacks are of a variety, and all charming when not hunched in the back. As a rule they are short and have a girlish appearance, and as a rule the sack matches the skirt. If the petticoat is of silk, a sack like it is very pretty, although one of white net or transparent material is also very pretty. Often with the lingerie waist a lingerie petticoat is worn, and this is a daintier fashion. The sack may either sport a yoke or have trimming to stimulate one.

The long negligee gown may be on the Empire order, or the Watteau style. And now the Japanese kimono slowly vanishes from favor, being superseded by a Chinese coat, a queer, shapely thing that is said to be short. But it is made of beautiful silk, and richly embroidered. This coat is thick, and warm enough to be worn in the winter, as well as on a cool summer day. The present liking for elbow sleeves and square neck comes in well for the negligee, as very simple ones having these features possess a certain amount of style. The sleeve shown in the figure without the coat is very popular.

There is nothing smarter for country wear this summer in the way of shirt-waist suits than the ones made of calico. Their first coat is slight—but the laundry bill! For the girl that wants to look out at athletic sports but take no part herself, the white serge suit is a favorite. White linen is a craze this year, some girls are aiming to appear in the summer through a tailor suit of moderate weight for day time, the thinnest of handkerchief linen for evenings. Linens are declared to be in fashion for all occasions save traveling. Slowly we are learning to appreciate the little cape wraps of silk and other light-weight materials. Sometimes lace is used for the cape, sometimes linen is employed, again thin cloth. They are so convenient to throw on of a summer evening, and really are more becoming than the box of a long evening gown. Of short skirt they suggest ye olden days, and are as picturesque and becoming as the old-fashioned frumpies worn by our grandmothers.

Gilt belts are worn, and, when good, are quite expensive. Narrow belts are promised, and it is more than probable this fall we shall have the princely effect, the waist fitting over the skirt without the use of a bodice or belt of any sort.

THE TRIM GIRL OF TODAY

NOW the summer girl must be neat and trim, rather than blowy and trying to wear an exaggerated holiday air. She must be careful of her appearance, eschew untidy hair and rumpled apparel. She may play all she likes out of doors, but she must wear a veil to keep rebellious locks in place, she may keep off tar from arms and hands with long gloves.

Maybe it is because she has to live up to her hat, such a neat little affair as it is. It sits closely down on smoothly coiled hair, trimmings and part of the trim sometimes come well down over the back. The turbans seem universally becoming, may be said to be the most popular feature of this season's millinery. Our design shows an attractive and rather unusual model, with trimmings fore and aft.

It is worth while to consider that a woman is able to get up her summer outfit from cheap materials in a highly satisfactory way.

Stuffs must be high-priced to be presentable, but summer materials of low price are often extremely pretty. We have in mind some pretty chinchilla and cotton velvets in the way of suits that are as pretty as need be. They cost but a few cents a yard, it takes but a few yards to make them, and there for a trifle one gets one's own. Employ a dressmaker at home—if you can't make them yourselves—and in a trice you will have frocks and good style. Wear shoes, belts and stonks of Electric Traction Wins.

Since the world's fair was in Chicago, when a steam engine in a tug of war contest succeeded in dragging an electric locomotive back, the development of the latter has steadily progressed until it has reached a stage where the electric locomotive assumes superiority. It has been so greatly improved in size, weight and power that recent tests prove it to be more than able to hold its own. Between a specially selected Pacific type steam passenger engine and the latest model of electric locomotive the latter came out well ahead in all of the trial runs. In addition the weight of the trains behind the locomotives was 56 tons greater. However, we find many that approve of the turban for all hours of the day. It is such a novelty they are too fond of it to give it up solely for outling and simpler costumes.

MY LADY'S HEALTH.

DOUBTLESS health is beyond price, as it is the royal road to beauty. We will endeavor to show you how this great blessing may be cultivated or acquired without wealth. What is it that makes some of our young American women two of Nature's beautifiers, and those who wish to have a clear, bright eyes and rosy color will embrace every opportunity of being in the open air.

Now important than all of those, is that the young woman or middle-aged woman starts with a healthy womanly system. If she is dragged down by suffering greatly at stated periods, she is bound to have that dragged-down, weary-out look which goes with chronic weakness. But this is not difficult to cure, because a physician, who makes a specialty of diseases of women, has given to the world a medicine which is absolutely a cure for these weaknesses. We mean Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It stands alone as a medicine which has been tested and recommended for the last thirty-eight years. It stands alone as the only medicine now on the market which is guaranteed to contain no alcohol or narcotics of any kind.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription brought me safety through a difficult period called change of life. I had not and could not have the care of a large family but a fair meal. My aunt recommended me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it did me a great change for the better. Within two weeks the unpleasant feelings had disappeared. I have a husband and eight children who are the care of a large family but as able to attend to my household duties without any difficulty and as a grand medicine for any more trouble. I can recommend your Favorite Prescription as a grand medicine for women. Mrs. Mary Essington.

no attractive? Beyond doubt it is the buoyant air of intense life and animation. Plenty of sleep is most important; a rest in the middle of the day, even if only for a few minutes, on the flat of the back, perfectly relaxed. Simple food. Plenty of water. And most essential is fresh air. Get out in the good fresh air and take some exercise each day. Sunshine and ozone are

TIPPED HER TOE.

Little Girl Falls and Breaks Her Arm.

Alice Long, the 11-year-old daughter of Esq. W. R. Long, fell and broke her right arm near the wrist Sunday. The little girl, in company with several companions, was at the sanitarium, and while walking on a joist she tipped her toe and fell. Drs. Stiles and Petrie were called and set the fractured limb. This was the second time her arm had been broken.
